COMPUTERS4KIDS RECEIVES GRANT AWARD FROM THE CHARLOTTESVILLE AREA COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Charlottesville, VA—On March 11, 2010, local nonprofit Computers4Kids received a $5,000 grant award from the Community Endowment Fund of the Charlottesville Area Community Foundation.

The grant award will support Teen Tech, a new program providing graduates of Computers4Kids' 9-month after-school mentoring and technology training program with on-going opportunities to acquire advanced technology skills, receive college-to-career guidance, and work collaboratively in a supportive environment. Teen Tech was created to help meet the local need for free and accessible after-school programming for low-income youth in the Charlottesville-Albemarle area.

Computers4Kids is an award-winning nonprofit that provides after-school mentoring, technology training, and technology access to disadvantaged middle and high school students living in Charlottesville and Albemarle County. All services are free.
