C4K is a nonprofit that serves low-income middle and high school students living in Charlottesville and Albemarle County. Students take advantage of free access to an after-school learning lab, one-on-one mentoring, technology training, and the opportunity to earn a free home computer system. Students who complete two in-depth technology projects and meet with their volunteer mentor an hour a week for at least nine months are eligible to graduate from the program. Graduates can go on to join Teen Tech, C4K's new after-school program that provides our older students with ongoing opportunities for advanced technology training and hands-on college and career guidance.
